

MATTHEW TONES
 INTERNATIONAL PROPERTY AWARDS

1. If it was possible for you to have any award, what award would you want?
 All my awards have been remarkable ones. But I don't see one that really motivates me when I see 3 international property awards to my credit in 3 different areas of design and development. I was very fortunate to see how well my teams could perform.

2. What was the last award you won and what was it for?
 My last award I won was in 2014 during the awards for the best UK residential light design, which was displayed at the Design Centre in Geneva.

3. What made you realize you had a talent for design?
 Design has never really been about making money and getting a reward. Inspiration is not always down about my passion and passion is changing the way people live and interact with spaces.

4. How do you balance business with family?
 Fortunately my family are very understanding and have going with a lot of my late nights and early mornings of meeting project deadlines. But we do operate as if we're a family like when I'm at school.

5. There's a common belief among remarkable leaders, why do you choose to start your own business?
 I have always had passion for creating something out of nothing. When I started transforming unusable spaces into functional usable areas that make people love and work more efficiently and happily. I know that that I could change people lives for the better with good use of design.

6. How do you stay your passion for business and innovation alive?
 My passion stays alive by always pushing the limits of design and by collaborating with the Design Industry.

How do you stay your passion for business and innovation alive?
 My passion stays alive by always pushing the limits of design and by working closely with the Design Industry.
